Journey Thru the Bible - 2010

Journey Thru the Bible* is a congregational plan for Bible reading and teaching that can help you grow in the knowledge and understanding of God. On the following pages, you will find a 2010 calendar with assigned Bible readings. The readings are divided weekly so that each reader can decide for himself how to cover the material. If you want to cover approximately the same amount of text each day, divide the number of pages for the week's reading by seven. On the other hand, you may want to cover the week's reading multiple times by reading the assigned text in just one or two days. The weekly assignments can be adapted to fit your preferred method and schedule.

Our reading schedule covers the entire Old and New Testament scriptures once during the year. This averages out to three chapters of the Old Testament to be read six days per week and one chapter of the New Testament to be read five days per week. Sometimes, of course, the daily requirement may be a bit more, and at others times it will be less. Not all of the chapters in the Bible are the same length either. Do not become discouraged if you fall behind. Stay on the current week's schedule. If you want to make up what you missed, do so after completing the current week's reading.

Each month's calendar is small enough to fit inside the cover of most Bibles. You may prefer to post the calendar on your refrigerator or tape it to your computer or television as a reminder to do your daily reading. Encourage your whole family to get involved in reading the Bible. Middle school children should be able to complete each week's assigned reading. Portions of the reading could also be selected and read aloud as part of a family devotional. At the least, you might want to read together the portion of scripture that is announced for the next week's sermon. In this way, your children will come to understand the importance of the Bible and its prominence in daily life and public preaching.

I would encourage you to purchase a notebook and keep a journal of your daily readings. This journal does not have to be extensive or take up much of your time. Simply write down the date and the chapters you read. Write down the citation for verses that stand out to you, questions you may have, and meaningful passages you want to remember and/or share with others. Jot down three things about each day's reading: Your Favorite Part, Something New that you don't remember seeing before, and A Practical Application. You do not have to write an essay. Just make a note of the verse or verses and keep reading.

Our adult Bible classes in the auditorium will be following the congregational reading schedule. The Sunday auditorium class will study from the New Testament schedule, and the Wednesday class will study from the Old Testament schedule. There are no reading assignments during the two weeks we have scheduled for gospel meetings. This will allow our classes to remain on schedule and will provide you additional opportunities to catch up if you have fallen behind on your reading.

MAY GOD BLESS US AS WE READ HIS WORD!
